

57

The Discovery of a New Palm Species (in the Arc of Deforestation) in the AmazonE.M.B. PRATA, M.F. TORRES JIMÉNEZ, C.D. BACON,
A.V.G. DE OLIVEIRA & T. EMILIO

69

A New, Large-Flowered Licuala from New Guinea

A.S. BARFOD & W.J. BAKER

74

The History of a Hispaniolan Palm, Zombia antillarum

A. HENDERSON

81

Dominican DiscoveriesC.D. BACON, T. CLASE, E. FERNÁNDEZ, X. GRATACOS, A. HENDERSON & O. MONTERO

90

Livistona victoriae* and the North Australia Exploring Expedition 1855–1856

J.L. DOWE & E. SCHWEIZER

FRONT COVER

An individual of Mauritiella disticha found in the region of the Cuieiras river, in the lower Rio Negro. See article by E.M.B. Prata et al., p. 57. Photo by P.-O. Albano.

BACK COVER

Coccothrinax spissa, a critically endangered palm, endemic to Hispaniola. See article by C. Bacon et al., p. 81. Photo by E. Fernández.

Features

Palm News	56
Palm Literature	66, 72
Patrons of the IPS	103

The fearsome leaf sheaths of Zombia antillarum are a distinctive feature of the species. See article by A. Henderson, p. 42. Photo by S. Zona.